When a large U.S. federal client expressed the need from the central IT department to deliver data protection to several internal business units in a secure private cloud setup, the CAS Severn team reached out to Auwau.

CAS Severn and their client needed the ability for a large business unit hierarchy to share a centralized data protection infrastructure in a secure way where departments and their users were kept separate from each other.

The combination of IBM Spectrum Protect and Cloutility provides the scalability, robustness and secure multi-tenant reporting and configurable workflow capabilities needed in U.S. federal entities.

Cloutility enables role-based user accounts and allows the departmental users to access their respective business units with self-service features and daily status reports. All committing actions are registered in Cloutility's built-in audit log, and through settings the IT department sets up and manages various technical- and end-user workflows.

Cloutility supports the U.S. "Federal Information Processing Standard" (FIPS) as well as "single sign-on" (SSO via SAML 2.0) based on "Common Access Cards" (CAC) used by U.S. federal employees. Cloutility also supports "2-factor-authentication" (2FA).

"The support and service we receive from the Auwau team is outstanding. Working in the U.S. federal space is full of challenges and requests for new features. Auwau always responds quickly and develops solutions for any challenge. Auwau is one of the most agile partners we have ever worked with."
